

A world map with a light gray background and black outlines for continents and countries. Seven black dots are placed on the map to indicate regional offices. Each dot is connected to a text label by a thin black line. The labels are in white text on dark blue rectangular backgrounds, except for the headquarters label which is in white text on a dark red background. The regions are: Article 19 Headquarters (Europe), Mexico and Central America (North America), S n gal and West Africa (West Africa), Tunisia and MENA (North Africa/Middle East), Bangladesh and South Asia (South Asia), East and Horn of Africa (East Africa), and Brazil and South America (South America).
